3. Expectations for the forthcoming period

In 2018 the macroeconomic conditions in which the Bank will realize its activity are expected to be similar to 2017. Continuation of the stable macroeconomic conditions will rely on low and predictable inflation and stable nominal f/x exchange rate of the Denar versus the Euro. The average annual inflation rate is expected to range between 1.5% and 2%. The price stability will be supported by the further application of the monetary strategy of targeting the nominal exchange rate of the Denar against the Euro by the National Bank of the Republic of Macedonia.

Despite the continuity of macroeconomic stability, no dramatic accelerations of the growth of the Macedonian economy is expected in 2018, so the real growth of the GDP is expected to accelerate and range between 2.5% and 3%. The annual growth of the total loans on the level of banking system is expected to be from 5% to 6% and it will primarily be financed by the banks' deposit base.

The Bank will undertake all necessary measures and activities for realization of its goals and assignments in accordance with the Program of Business Policy Measures and Activities for 2018, where the Bank will be focused on improving the quality of the loan portfolio. The growth of the loan portfolio of the Bank is expected to be moderate in the part of lending to non-financial legal entities, as well as in the part of the retail loans in accordance with NBRM's regulations, where no significant changes are planned in the structure of the assets. The deposits from the non-financial sector will continue to retain their dominant share in the total resources, since the Bank does not plan any significant changes in the structure of the liabilities.
